CARBON MONOXIDE - THE SILENT KILLER

New research from Which? reveals that one in five UK homes are without a carbon monoxide (CO) alarm.

That means one in five homes will not be protected from the killer gas in the event of a CO build-up. Every home with at least one fuel-burning appliance, attached garage or fireplace should have a carbon monoxide detector installed.

The detector works to alert you that the poisonous gas is somewhere in the home. Ideally, if your home only has one carbon monoxide alarm, it should be installed in the main bedroom or in the hallway outside of your bedrooms.

If your home or facility isn't fitted with a carbon monoxide alarm, book an installation with ADS.

TEAM UPDATES!

Next month we'll be celebrating Steve's one year anniversary of service with ADS!

We couldn't be more proud to have Steve represent our team and we have taken steps to invest in his training to continue ensuring that he plays a critical role with in our business.

His attitude has been fantastic during his time with us and Steve goes above and beyond and is always willing to attend a last-minute call out. He has given up evenings and weekends to support our customers across the country, when they are in a difficult situation. In the short term Steve will also be attending an F Gas (air conditioning) course and will keep you updated on his progress through our regular channels!

PROJECT SPOTLIGHT: CARBON MONOXIDE TESTING

Carbon Monoxide testing is absolutely essential to ensure the safety of employees and members of the public!

Our team recently carried out testing for We Care at their Priory Court Developments site, using Anton's ACMT Carbon Monoxide Tripod Kits. These kits have been developed to respond to reports of fumes and carbon monoxide alarm activations.

This type of work should only be carried out by registered engineers! If you want to learn more about our carbon monoxide testing, get in touch with our team.

PROJECT SPOTLIGHT: A SECOND OPINION

Need a second opinion? A second option in isn't just reserved for when you head to your local GP.

We urge you to seek a second opinion when a company provides you with a huge bill for expensive replacements or repairs!

Just recently we had a client ask us for a second opinion on a set of boilers after another company had condemned them and had recommend replacing the boilers with new units. After an inspection during servicing, we found the boilers were perfectly adequate and this saved the client from having to invest in a new heating system!
